This week we have focused on Anti-bullying week. The CBBC presenter Andy and his band the Odd Socks have re-released an old Sham69 song "When the kids are united, we will never be divided!"

The children have been thinking about how they have forged friendships within their bubbles and considered the restrictions on socialising with others.

We talked about how words can hurt us as well as sticks and stones, and how to keep safe online.

To show our friendships and our united school, we created hearts in the woods.

Of course, we also had our fantastic forest school fun, including making bird feeders, chilling, roasting, fire lighting etc. Year 5 reminded me that you're never too old to have fun with just a steep muddy slope

On Saturday morning seven dads from class 1Q responded to a parents' rallying call and cleared the treacherous leaves and sludge off the pavements outside school.

I'm sure our floors and carpets will see the benefit! Community spirit from 1Q right here! Well done!

Year 6 Videography History Day

Using green screen technology, Year 6 students were able to bring history to life this week when they created a video about 'Life through the Blitz in World War 11'. Starting with Chamberlain's address to the nation in 1939 announcing the start of the war, pupils' assumed the roles of reporters interviewing people 'of the time'.

The WW11 reporters asked about their reaction to the start of the war and of their life through the blitz. The video then explored Anderson shelters and interviewed children, parents and volunteers involved in the evacuation of children to the countryside.

Working with a professional videographer, students wrote and practiced each scene, focusing on how characters of the time would have felt and ensuring historical accuracy. The videography taught students some of the tricks of the trade of using green screen to enhance the quality of their videos. The final video will be showcased to students next week.
