Year 4 Trip to Robinwood

The Year 4 children had a fantastic 3 days in Robinwood. There were so many outdoor activities to get involved in and the children were absolutely brilliant! Some conquered their fear of heights and for others it was their first time staying away from home. The children showed great resilience, teamwork and confidence throughout the trip. Some of their favourite activities were the zip wire, the piranha pool and caving. A huge well done to all children who went and a big well done to the staff too! We can't wait for next year already!

Year 5 York Trip

Our school residential trip to York was an unforgettable experience packed into two nights and three busy days. From the moment we arrived, excitement was high and everyone was ready to explore.

One of the highlights was visiting the Jorvik Viking Centre, where we travelled back in time to experience life as a Viking. The sights, sounds and even smells made it feel incredibly real. We also had the opportunity to dig up Viking artefacts, carefully uncovering replica objects and learning how archaeologists study the past. It was fascinating to think about who might have used the items we discovered.

Another memorable activity was walking along the historic city walls. We covered many miles each day, and our legs certainly felt it, but the views across the city were worth the effort. The walk helped us appreciate York's rich history and impressive architecture.

We also enjoyed a hands-on workshop at the York's Chocolate Story, where we made our own chocolate creations. Learning about York's chocolate-making heritage while designing our treats was both educational and delicious.

In the evening, we braved a thrilling ghost walk through the narrow streets. Listening to spooky stories about York's past in the dark was both frightening and fun.

Throughout the trip, the children's behaviour was excellent. They represented the school brilliantly, showing enthusiasm, respect and resilience despite the long distances we walked each day. Overall, it was a fantastic residential that created lasting memories for everyone involved

Head lice - Treating head lice

Head lice can be difficult to treat due to the time-consuming and precise nature of treatment and high re-infestation rate.

In the past, traditional insecticides were used to treat head lice infestations but head lice would often develop resistance to them.

Therefore, these types of treatments have virtually been replaced with silicone and oil-based preparations which have a physical rather than a chemical action on lice.

After a head lice infestation has been confirmed you can treat the lice at home by wet combing the hair with a head lice comb or by using a lotion or spray that's designed to kill head lice (see below).

However, neither will protect against re-infestation if head-to-head contact is made with someone with head lice during the treatment period.

Wet combing

The wet combing method involves removing the head lice by systematically combing the hair using a special fine-toothed comb.

The comb's teeth should be spaced 0.2-0.3mm apart. Lice can be crushed or trapped between the teeth of nit combs with a tooth spacing of less than 0.19mm and remain unseen.

You can buy a fine-toothed comb from your local pharmacy or you can order one online.

Lotions or sprays don't need to be used for wet combing. However, to be effective, wet combing needs to be carried out regularly and thoroughly. The method you should use is described below.

- Wash the hair using ordinary shampoo and apply plenty of conditioner, before using a wide-toothed comb to straighten and untangle the hair.
- Once the comb moves freely through the hair without dragging, switch to the louse detection comb. Make sure the teeth of the comb slot into the hair at the roots, with the bevel-edge of the teeth lightly touching the scalp.
- Draw the comb down to the ends of the hair with every stroke, and check the comb for lice.
- Remove lice by wiping or rinsing the comb.
- Work methodically through the hair, section by section, so that the whole head is combed through.
- Rinse out conditioner and repeat the combing procedure.
- Repeat the procedure on days three, six, nine, 12 and 15, so that you clear young lice as they hatch, before they have time to reach maturity.

How long it will take to comb your child's hair will depend on the type of hair they have and its length. For example, short, straight hair can be quickly prepared and can be fine-toothed combed in a few minutes. Longer, curlier hair will take longer to comb.

Lotion or sprays

Using a lotion or spray is an alternative method of treating head lice. However, to be effective they need to be used correctly. Your pharmacist will be able to recommend an over-the-counter lotion or spray and advise you about how to use it correctly.

A lotion or spray should only be used if a living (moving) head louse is found. Crème rinses and shampoos aren't thought to be effective and therefore aren't recommended.

Ensure you have enough lotion or spray to treat everyone in your family who's affected. Use enough to coat the scalp and the length of the hair during each application.

Follow the instructions that come with the lotion or spray when applying it. Depending on the product you're using, the length of time it will need to be left on the head may vary from 10 minutes to eight hours.

The normal advice is to treat the hair and repeat the treatment after seven days. Some products also supply a comb for removing dead lice and eggs.

Some products may be capable of killing eggs as well as lice, although there's no certainty of this. Check for baby lice hatching from eggs three to five days after using a product and again 10-12 days afterwards.

At least two applications of lotion are needed to kill lice over the hatching period because the lotions don't always kill louse eggs.

If the lice appear unaffected by the product, or if the problem persists, seek advice from your school nurse, health visitor, pharmacist or GP.

Cautions

Always read the instructions on the pack or leaflet that comes with a head lice treatment, particularly in relation to the following groups:

- young babies (under six months old)
- pregnant women
- people with asthma or allergies

If you're still unsure, seek advice from a healthcare professional before using the product.
