

Liverpool College

5 December 2019

Dear Parents,

Our Ofsted inspection report can now be read on our website here.

The report speaks for itself. It is at once humbling and inspiring, an affirmation of everything we do, and a challenge to make it better still. It is a very significant milestone in the history of our school and represents the hard work of governors, foundation members, teachers, support staff, parent volunteers and of course pupils. It is a moment to reflect and remember all the people who have helped us as a school to develop, to grow, to improve, including former staff, donors, OLs, many other friends of Liverpool College and especially Steve Doran and Louise Reeves whom we have so missed.

When we set out to become a state school in 2012, we were determined that we would provide to the children of Liverpool an exceptional education which would allow them to fully flourish and achieve all their potential. The report is a recognition that while we are by no means perfect, we have held up our part of the bargain, creating something unique, transformative, significant, now recognized even in a new and more demanding Ofsted framework as exceptional.

The governors, my colleagues and I are determined to build on this milestone and continue to innovate and improve.

I want on their behalf to thank you for your support and assure you that our best and most inspirational days are still ahead.

Yours sincerely,

Hans van Mourik Broekman
Principal
